What's New In GI 2017?

TARGET AUDIENCE

This course is designed for gastroenterologists, GI surgeons, internists and family practice physicians with an interest in gastroenterology and hepatology.

PURPOSE AND CONTENT

This program is designed to provide attendees with the latest updates on what's new in gastrointestinal disease. We will have an ethics presentation that will discuss how to identify various healthcare disparities in gastrointestinal disorders. Emphasis will also be placed on how to determine when to select medical therapy versus endoscopic therapy for Barrett's Esophagus, management of difficult pancreaticobiliary interventional cases, and how to recognize symptoms and use current data to establish diagnosis and formulate the appropriate treatment plan. The attendees will gain a better overall understanding of the newest treatment approaches for gastrointestinal disease and disorders as it is applicable to their scope of practice.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

- Recognize the symptoms of eosinophilic esophagitis, establish the diagnosis and formulate a treatment plan
- Determine when to select medical therapy vs endoscopic therapy for Barrett's Esophagus
- Employ biologic therapies for refractory IBD including salvage therapy
- Discuss management of difficult pancreaticobiliary interventional cases with an expert panel
- Identify and utilize the newest approaches to the treatment of Hepatitis C

ACCREDITATION STATEMENT

The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

DESIGNATION STATEMENT

The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas designates this continuing education activity for a maximum of 6.25 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

ETHICS CREDIT

The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center designates the presentation "Ethics and Disparities in Screening: Colorectal and Hepatocellular Cancer Prevention" for 1 hour in medical ethics and/or professional responsibility.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST

All persons in the position to control the content of an education activity are required to disclose all relevant financial relationships in any amount occurring within the past 12 months with any entity producing, marketing, re-selling, or distributing health care goods or services consumed by, or used on patients. A primary mechanism to resolve identified conflicts of interest is a content review that is prior to the activity.

DISCUSSION OF OFF-LABEL USE

This course is meant to educate physicians with what is currently in use and what may be available in the future. There may be "off-label" use discussed in the activity. Speakers have been requested to inform the audience when off-label use is discussed.
