FAMILY MEDICINE GRAND ROUNDS

The Local Neglected Infectious Diseases

Marwa Saleh, MD

FREE CME Dinner Program

Tuesday March 21, 2017

6:30 PM– 8:00 PM

William P Clements University Hospital Education Center (2nd floor)
6201 Harry Hines Blvd, Dallas, TX 75390

Program Directors:

Tasaduq Mir, MD, FAAFP, Assistant Professor
Zaiba Jetpuri, DO, MBA, FAAFP, Assistant Professor

Expert Panel:

Ricardo La Hoz, MD – Infectious Disease
Christopher Perkins, DO, MPH – DCHHS

Overview: This activity provides an opportunity to review and present what is relevant to primary care and advance experience about up to date information applicable to day-to-day practice. Infectious diseases still remain on the priority list of public health. Though attention is primarily given to vaccine preventable and epidemic diseases, there remains the less explored field of local neglected infectious diseases. These diseases highlight social determinants and the disparities in health, and this talk will address these diseases including prevalence, diagnosis, management, and measures to eradicate them using safe and cost-effective tools.

Who should attend? Residents in training, fellows, medical students and other interested health care professionals at UTSW and Community primary care.
